

Artist Statement

As a musician, I've learned that a performer responds to the unique energy of a particular time and place. By interacting with materials and the environment, I incorporate spontaneity and improvisation into my creative process, an impromptu jam session -- after years of rehearsal, I jump in and let the work develop.